'Mobile Learn Subject at a Glance' Report

What can this report do for me?

- This report provides information about how students are using mobile devices to access and interact with the LearnJCU site of a particular subject. It compares Mobile Learn Users with non-Mobile Learn Users for LearnJCU subject site accesses, minutes, interactions and grade.
- This can be useful when designing the materials and activities that are provided on the LearnJCU site. For instance, if students are primarily using a LearnJCU site with mobile devices, it would be worthwhile to design and implement mobile friendly materials and activities.

Interpreting and Using the Report

After the report has run successfully, average comparisons between Mobile Learn Users and non-Mobile Learn Users for accesses, interactions, minutes and grades are displayed in both chart and table formats. This information can help you understand how the students are using the LearnJCU subject site, and whether they are primarily accessing the site with mobile devices. This can help inform how you design the site and the materials provided.
